Full-Time Lecturer in Professional Communication

The Johns Hopkins University seeks highly qualified candidates for a full-time, teaching track faculty position in The Professional Communication Program (PCP) within The Center for Leadership Education (CLE). This position offers a renewable, fully-benefitted, one-year contract that becomes eligible for promotion and a longer term of contract after a probationary period. Salary is very competitive and commensurate with experience. The teaching load is 3/3 with small enrollment caps.

The Professional Communication Program is housed in The Center for Leadership Education, a vibrant, interdisciplinary center in the Whiting School of Engineering. It offers a broad range of undergraduate- and graduate-level curricula in professional communication, leadership, accounting/finance, entrepreneurship, and professional development. We seek candidates who are comfortable working in an interdisciplinary environment but who are primarily qualified in writing and communication. Successful candidates will be able to teach in two of the following areas:

- professional writing and communication
- scientific/technical communication
- engineering education
- grant and/or regulatory writing
- ESL/ELL
- MOOC, hybrid, and online instruction

A Ph.D. in English, Rhetorical Composition, Communication, or closely related field is preferred. An MFA will be considered for candidates with strong teaching evaluations and professional experience. All candidates must be student-centered teachers with a record of excellent teaching evaluations. Candidates with professional work experience outside academia are especially encouraged to apply. Johns Hopkins is committed to building a diverse educational environment; women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. Johns Hopkins is an EEO/AA employer.

For full consideration, applicants should submit the following documents via Interfolio no later than January 31, 2020:

- cover letter
- curriculum vitae
- statement of teaching philosophy
- copies of recent teaching evaluations
- three letters of recommendation
